A Suggestion as to S. Main St. Traffic Control

Our suggestion a couple of weeks ago that the city bar through traffic on S. Main St. while the contractor is widening and resurfacing it not only failed to produce any municipal action but brought an informal rejoinder that the contractor agreed to maintain all traffic when he took the job.

That's a pat answer that ignores public safety and the rights of residents who live on S. Main. What's legal doesn't always make common sense. The S. Main St. contract is an illustration.

The situation would be embarrassing to the editor, because he lives on S. Main, but others reside there, too, and one prominent resident has already published a critical letter.

Many of the private driveways off the street are bordered by such deep holes that a householder backing out of his garage has to back in a straight line until he blocks traffic. Construction work has reduced S. Main to barely two traffic lanes. In the last 10 days I have had three close calls.

Twice, when I had the street blocked, oncoming cars darted between me and the driveway, and the third time a driver scrambled by behind me. All three hit the dangerous dirt zones. Had it been raining they would have lost control.

If the city isn't going to do anything about diverting through traffic then I have an alternative. Post warning signs that the street is under construction, cut the speed limit to 20 mph, and advise drivers they must stop when a car is backing out of a driveway.

Any good driver adjusts his speed to the condition of the road. I have personally seen three flagrant violations—and unless the city takes stern measures there will be, sooner or later, a serious accident.

Businesses are hit by burglars

Two local businesses were hit by burglars, apparently early Wednesday morning, according to the City Police Department.

The safe at the Bell Lumber Company here was "peeled" and about $1,300 was taken, a spokesman for the department said. An assortment of checks, bonds and a small amount of cash was untouched, he said. Entrance was gained through the northeast door at the company; the door was pried open.

The back door at James Motor Company was also pried open sometime during the same night, the spokesman said. The safe, however, was apparently left open, but there was no money in it, and nothing was reported missing, he said.

An investigation into the two incidents is continuing by both city officers and State Police.

Bumpers would sign highway pact, if...

State is only one in Union without debt

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas has had direct bonded highway debt since 1971 up until 1971.

The years of highway bond debt began in 1918 and on June 30 of that year the total was $780,000. The peak year was 1934 when the amount stood at $176,900,943.

In 1965, former Gov. Orval E. Faubus proposed a $180 million highway development bond issue, but voters rejected it by more than two-to-one.

The highway bond debt of the state on June 30 of that year was $43,063,000.

The last highway bond issue approved by the people came in 1949 when a $31 million issue was passed under then-Gov. Sid McMath.

A $136 million refunding highway bond issue was approved in 1941 under then-Gov. Homer Adkins.

The bonds, paid off by the state at the rate of about $7 million per year, were retired about two years ago.

Arkansas now apparently is the only state in the union without highway bond debt.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — If it contains all "the safeguards," Gov. Dale Bumpers said Wednesday he would sign legislation calling for a highway construction bond issue.

The safeguards, he said, ought to include details on where roads will be built and justification for construction of each of those roads.

Voters should be told how much will be spent annually, what bond fees would be, what inflationary costs are now and may be in the future, how much bond lawyers would get, etc., Bumpers said.

He also called for a legislative guarantee that the roads for which voters might approve the bonds also are roads on which the money will be spent.

The governor's comments were in response to the state Highway Commission's action Wednesday in proposing a $416 million bond issue financed by a two-cent increase in the gasoline tax to build almost 800 miles of four-lane divided highway in the state.

Bumpers vetoed a bill the General Assembly approved in 1971 that provided for a public election on a $300 million bond issue.

Others in the Bumpers' administration gave the bond issue proposal qualified support.

Juan Peron: H-Hour drawing closer for Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Argentine capital looks like it's about to be invaded as H-Hour — when Juan Peron returns from exile — gets closer.

Even military jargon is in use. Peronists have dubbed the former dictator's flight home after 17 years of exile "Operation Return."

Peron, 77, is scheduled to arrive at Ezeiza International Airport Friday in a chartered jet, accompanied by 140 followers who flew to Rome to pick him up.

The ruling military junta launched "Operation Disruption" to seal off the airport after Peronist leaders predicted a million of their followers would be at the field.

The generals also issued orders creating a one-day holiday, barring private plane flights and chartered bus trips, closing schools and restricting roads to military movement. They assured the public that peace would be maintained.

The first shots were fired Wednesday night, and they were blanks.

A policeman fired into the air to disperse 200 university students gathered on their campus for an assembly on "students' role in the return of Peron."

More than 30,000 soldiers were forming a ring around the airport, and all Buenos Aires police and troops from outlying areas took up positions in and around the capital.

Civilian automobile traffic was restricted. The National Transport Board warned private bus operators that they could provide only regular service and would need authorization for any charter runs or special trips. This barred bus lines from bringing Peronists into Buenos Aires from the provinces or taking them to the airport. The military government limited the airport welcoming committee to 300, with their names to be supplied in advance.

PARIS (AP) — A new round of secret Vietnam peace negotiations was imminent today, but North Vietnam in advance rejected any changes in the draft cease-fire agreement worked out by Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho of the North Vietnamese Politburo.

Xuan Thuy, the chief of North Vietnam's delegation in Paris, told the weekly session of the semipublic peace talks: "We resolutely reject all the pretexts put forth by the United States and Saigon to demand modification of the substance of the agreement."

He repeated Hanoi's persistent demand that the United States "immediately sign the agreement."

The chief modification demanded by Saigon, a provision calling for the withdrawal of all North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam, was repeated today by South Vietnam's representative at the session, Nguyen Xuan Phong.

Phong told newsmen as he arrived for the meeting that his government regards such a withdrawal and restoration of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam as "essential elements" of any agreement.

O'Neill and Gibbons vying for position

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — One month after House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs disappeared during an Alaskan campaign flight, the man who succeeded him as assistant leader claims he's got the top job nailed down.

Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. of Massachusetts, who became whip two years ago when Boggs was elevated to floor leader, says he has more than enough pledges of support to guarantee him Boggs' post.

However, Rep. Sam Gibbons of Florida disputes the claim and says his effort to win Boggs' post is doing all right too. But O'Neill has an advantage because he is already on the House Democratic leadership team.

On Oct. 16, Boggs was aboard a light plane with Rep. Nick Begich and two other persons over the Alaskan coast on a flight from Anchorage to Juneau.

Boggs had taken advantage of a two-day House recess to make several campaign speeches for the freshman Begich, Alaska's only House member.

Somewhere between Anchorage and Juneau the small plane disappeared, and a month-long search has found no sign of the craft.

Search planes were sent out again Wednesday, and again reported no luck as they probed through breaks in a heavy cloud cover for signs of the missing plane. Bad weather has hampered much of the search.

Last week Boggs and Begich were re-elected in absentia as members of the new Congress convening Jan. 3. If they aren't found alive by then, their seats could be declared vacant.

The two men's wives are being urged by friends to seek the seats in special elections that would be called by the governors. Mrs. Begich has responded she would run.

Immediately after the Nov. 7 election, O'Neill and Gibbons announced their candidacy for the Boggs' leadership post.

O'Neill's forces claim their candidate already has about 150 pledges of support. That's well over the 123 votes needed on the basis of 244 Democratic seats.

Bulletin

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Two blacks were shot today as students took over the administration building at Southern University's main campus here, police said.

"Anything that improves the highways will improve the economy as a whole," said Joe Woodward, chairman of the state Transportation Commission. "If the bond issue they submit is fair to the people of Arkansas and the proper safeguards are built in, we're behind it."

"We feel like any reasonable program by which we can improve the arteries of this state to carry the lifeblood of the state is necessary," Woodward said. "We certainly feel it is necessary to have good, and safe, highways."

Dan Roebuck, director of the Industrial Development Department, said, "I've said for some time there's a need for new highways in our state that are not included in the interstate system."

"I firmly believe that we're going to have to gamble on the state sometime," Roebuck said. "I'm all for a program that will encourage a better highway system."

He said he reserved comment on how to finance it until he can review the present tax measures in the state and any future tax measures that would have to come about to develop the state economically. He said he was basically in favor of a good, long-range and strong highway program.

Richard Longing, director of the state Commerce Department, declined to comment. William E. Henderson, director of the state Parks and Tourism Department, said he would not comment until he had studied the proposal.

Former Gov. Orval E. Faubus, the last governor to get a bond issue voted on by the people, said at Huntsville that before he could wholeheartedly support the commission's bond proposal he would have to know how much the interest rate will be.

Wells is speaker

Gary Wells, band director for Hope School system recently presented the program at the Optimist Club meeting. Wells discussed the honors the band has received recently and the plans for the future.

The band presently has 82 members, 12 of these are seniors. The band has entered three competitions recently and received number one rating in each contest. A number one rating is considered superior. Mr. Wells explained that each band is graded on its performance and can receive from a one to five. A number one is superior, a number five poor.

There are three judges in each competition each judge grades each band separately, then they take the grade of the majority and this is the rating the band gets.

He explained the marching competition is over that they now will be entering other types of competition.

Cuba ready to talk about skyjacking

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are very encouraged by a strong Cuban signal on opening negotiations toward ending aircraft hijacking, but they emphatically deny this could lead to a normalization in relations.

The Cuban signal came Wednesday in a broadcast from Havana, saying "the government of Cuba is willing, and without delay, to take such steps which might lead to the adoption of a broad agreement" on hijacking.

Even before this broadcast was monitored in Washington, State Department spokesman Charles W. Bray told newsmen, "We do have the impression now that there may now be a basis for reopening negotiations" on the issue.

Bray described the impression as based on unspecified "straws in the wind" as seen in previous actions and statements by Premier Fidel Castro's government following two recent hijackings of U.S. airliners to Cuba.

But the broadcast set off what officials said was "great excitement" among U.S. Cuban experts because the Castro government has not shown any previous willingness to negotiate the hijacking situation.

From the American viewpoint, the obstacle to past efforts to reach an accommodation on hijacking prevention was Havana's demand that the United States return Cubans who fled to this country.

In the Wednesday broadcast, Havana criticized past American policy concerning Cuban emigration and acts by anti-Castro elements based in the United States, but it did not repeat the demand for extradition of "illegal Cuban emigrants."

This omission was seen by some U.S. experts as indicating the seriousness of the Cuban proposal.

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — An international force of merchant and military ships was on its way to storm-whipped Akutan Island in Alaska's Aleutian chain today to aid a powerless Coast Guard cutter trapped in "mountainous seas."

A Coast Guard spokesman said the 378-foot-long, high-endurance cutter Jarvis was in "serious but stable" condition as its engine room continued to take water in 12-foot swells and 25-knot winds. The spokesman said there was no immediate danger of sinking.

No injuries were reported among the crew, which Coast Guard officials in Juneau said numbered 170 men.

Five merchant vessels — two of Japanese registry, two from Russia and one from Greece — were steaming to the location 20 miles south of Akutan, more than 750 miles southwest of Anchorage.

Monday Harold Webster, safety programs representative with the Arkansas Division of American Red Cross in Little Rock, met with 15 local citizens at Red River Vocational Technical School to organize a Red Cross Water Safety Committee and Red Cross First Aid Training Committee. The group included representatives from the police department, fire department, state police, county rescue service, ambulance service, hospitals, high school and vocational technical school. The current Hempstead County Red Cross Program was discussed with the idea of possibly expanding both the Water Safety and First Aid Programs. The group agreed to formulate goals and objectives for operation of these two programs in Hope and Hempstead County for the next 12 months. Webster suggested that additional members be added to both committees to bring the active strength of each committee to 12 to 15 people.

Helen Help Us!

Another Time, Another Choice

DEAR HELEN:
Four years ago my son wanted to marry a white girl. We are black, live in a middle-class, integrated suburb and have friends of all races, so do most people in Government work.

But my wife and I felt that marriage presented enough risks without the added problems of prejudice. Frankly, we did our best to discourage the match, and we were relieved when they broke up. Jason, now married to a fine black girl, recently expressed gratitude that we "interfered" though he resented us at the time.

My wife died two years ago. A newly widowed woman at the office helped me through my worst depressions and we have become very close friends, never suspecting it could be more.

... Until last month when we suddenly realized we never wanted it to end: our compatibility was turning into love. As you have probably guessed: she is white. I have met her grown daughter. No problem there. I'm discovering the "prejudice" is mostly on my side, for our co-workers seem unconcerned about racial differences too. We're well liked—and approved—by almost everyone.

I've fought this, tried to tell myself—and Rose—how foolish we are, but she and I know we'll make it. We're right for each other.

How then, can I tell my son Jason that what I didn't want for him is the very union I've chosen for myself? —T.T.

DEAR T.:
It won't be easy, but, after the first meeting, it may not be as difficult as you think. Since Jason didn't share your prejudice back then, perhaps he'll be glad to see you're finally getting color blind. Why not get both families together and see how fast the shack wears off? (Remember, "Guess Who's Coming To Dinner" was filmed some four years ago.) —H.

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 19): You may try to do too much today because everything seems to fall in line. Poor judgment could prove costly.

TAURUS (Apr 20-May 20): Don't count your chickens before they're hatched. Impractical optimism could disappoint you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Although current affairs appear quite promising, past obligations should not be neglected at this time.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): All new agreements should be treated cautiously. Seek the best legal counsel regarding contracts.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22): You may find yourself tending to offer to do more than you can produce. Don't exaggerate to impress others.

VIRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22): Be particularly careful today if you're spending someone else's money. Give risky ventures a wide berth.

This year you may seek a more challenging type of work or career. It could benefit you financially, but responsibilities will be greater in months ahead.

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct 23): This is not a good day to make major decisions re: your family. Hasty compromise leads to faulty judgment.

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22): Plan your work carefully so it's not a bigger chore than it should be. Avoid unnecessary travel.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21): Speculative ventures could have a tantalizing appeal today. Hide your purse—they're not as good as they look.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 19): Think very carefully before making big changes around the home. You may be overlooking something important.

AQUARIUS (Jan 20-Feb 19): You could be a trifle careless in matters that pertain to communication. Re-check anything requiring signatures.

PISCES (Feb 20-Mar 20): This is one of those days where you could spend more than intended. Buy only for immediate needs.

Okla. Penn State in Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Oklahoma will return to defend its Sugar Bowl title New Years Eve night against Penn State, an Eastern power making its first appearance in the Sugar Bowl classic.

The Associated Press learned of the matchup Wednesday, although it cannot be announced officially until Saturday afternoon because of National Collegiate Athletic Association rules. Fourth-ranked Oklahoma is 7-1 for the season—the loss was to Colorado—with Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma State still ahead.

Sixth-ranked Penn State is 8-

1, having won eight straight since a 28-21 loss to Tennessee in the Nittany Lions' season opener.

Oklahoma's wishbone ran wild in a 40-22 romp over Auburn in last season's Sugar Bowl while Penn State was whipping Texas 30-6 in the Cotton Bowl.

Confirmation of the Sugar Bowl match, a source close to behind-the-scenes bowl negotiations told The Associated Press, makes it a virtual certainty that Nebraska will play Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl with Alabama meeting Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

Longhorns chasing SWC title

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Texas Longhorns can carve themselves another piece of Southwest Conference football history against Texas Christian Saturday—a team Coach Darrell Royal once called "The cockroaches ... they're always messin' everything up."

With a victory or a tie, Texas can clinch an unprecedented fifth consecutive SWC title and a trip to the Cotton Bowl perhaps against second-ranked Alabama.

Royal says "They have a defense that's tough as nails with two big strong tackles who are tough to do much business with ... that haymaker they delivered on Texas Tech wasn't any accident. You can look at the films and see that was for real."

TCU Coach Billy Tohill says he fears Texas' one-two punch of quarterback Alan Lowry and fullback Roosevelt Leaks but adds "I don't think enough people realize just how tough a defense they have."

One of the big question marks is the effectiveness of All-American offensive tackle Jerry Sizemore of the Longhorns, who sprained an ankle in last week's 17-3 victory over Baylor.

TCU defensive tackle Charley Davis says "I'll bet you anything he plays. I don't care what anybody says. At kickoff, he'll be ready."

A crowd in excess of 40,000 fans will be on hand for the 2 p.m. CST kickoff in Aron Car-

Allen, 'All I wanted was a year of peace'

By JERRY LISKKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — "All I asked for when I came here was one year of peace of mind," said the American League's newly honored Most Valuable Player for 1972.

First baseman Dick Allen, his image as a moody, controversial former National League star behind him, made it plain Wednesday that finding "a home in Chicago where I really feel like a human being" spurred his superb AL debut with the White Sox.

A genial Allen, garbed in a maroon mod suit replete with matching boots, touched all bases—past and present—at a news conference following his landslide MVP choice by the Baseball Writers Association of America earlier in the day.

The 30-year-old Allen, who led the AL in home runs with 37 and in RBI with a career high of 113 while batting .308, modestly said "I think this is quite an honor and I hope I'm worthy of it."

"Actually, I thought Joe Rudi (outfielder for the world champion Oakland A's) would have won it. Baseball is my life, it makes me go. This would mean more to me had we won the pennant."

Rudi finished a distant second in the MVP voting, with 164 points compared with Allen's 321.

In between that Rookie of the Year Award and Wednesday's MVP selection, came "so many years of stories and criticism without hearing from me," Allen said of his unhappy stay with the Phils and one-year stints each with the St. Louis Cardinals and Los Angeles Dodgers.

Razorbacks Liberty Bowl candidate?

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Arkansas, a one-point loser to Tennessee in last year's Liberty Bowl, reportedly is back at the head of the list of "possibles" for this year's Dec. 18 contest.

If the Razorbacks, 5-4 with two games remaining, defeat Southern Methodist at Fayetteville Saturday, they reportedly will be invited to return to the Memphis classic, the Memphis Commercial Appeal reported today.

Bowl officials were unavailable for comment. The newspaper said the other Liberty Bowl team will be Iowa State if the Cyclones defeat Missouri Saturday at Columbia, Mo.

Iowa State is 5-2-1 and has three games left on its schedule. The Cyclones' record includes a 23-23 tie with Nebraska last week.

In addition to the Iowa State and Arkansas games, the Liberty Bowl will send scouts this weekend to Georgia-Auburn and Tennessee-Ole Miss, selection committee chairman Tim Treadwell III said.

If Georgia beats Auburn at Auburn or Ole Miss defeats Tennessee in Knoxville, each would be in line for a Liberty Bowl bid, the newspaper said.

Home town honors the great Finley

By MIKE HARRIS

Associated Press Sports Writer
LAPORTE, Ind. (AP) — Charles O. Finley, much maligned and controversial owner of the Oakland Athletics, is a popular man in his hometown of LaPorte, Ind.

The white-haired multimillionaire was honored Wednesday night by this city of 23,000 for his contribution to the city and the game of baseball.

Finley is owner of the world champion A's, the California Golden Seals of the National Hockey League and the Memphis Tams of the American Basketball Association.

He also is an insurance executive, running his business from an office in Chicago.

The target of critical press for his handling of players, moving of franchises and firing of managers, Finley was the subject of praise and respect at LaPorte's Civic Auditorium

Wednesday night.

A crowd of 2,300 wedged into the building to take part in the festivities organized by local businessmen and friends of Finley.

Finley, his family and several members of the A's entered the hall behind a six-piece Dixieland band. They approached the speakers' table amid the standing, cheering admirers who waved hundreds of green and gold Oakland pennants.

Winter Olympics may still be in Colorado

DENVER (AP) — The chairman of the Colorado Citizens Committee to Retain the Winter Games says he was "greatly encouraged" after talking with International Olympic Committee President Lord Killanin that the 1976 Winter Games might still be held in Colorado.

Harry L. Arkin, Denver attorney, returned to Denver Tuesday night after meeting with Lord Killanin for three hours Monday morning at IOC headquarters in Lausanne, Switzerland.

Killanin told Arkin that only the IOC or the U.S. Olympic Committee had the authority to remove the Games from Colorado, Arkin said Wednesday.

The IOC, however, announced Wednesday that national Olympic committees have been instructed to submit new bids by Jan. 15 for the 1976 Winter Games following formal notification from the Denver Olympic Organizing Committee (DOOC) Wednesday of the withdrawal of Denver as the host city.

But, according to Arkin, Killanin told him, "They (the DOOC) can't give the games up because they weren't given to them in the first place."

Killanin told Arkin that, under Rule 56 of the Olympic Rules and Regulations, the Games were actually awarded to the USOC rather than to the DOOC, Arkin said.

The first game begins at 7 p.m. at the Guernsey gymnasium.

Celtics continue on victory rampage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics continued on their victory rampage in the National Basketball Association and left the Phoenix Suns wrestling with an identity crisis.

"You didn't see the Phoenix Suns out there, you saw five guys in uniforms," said Phoenix Coach Jerry Colangelo Wednesday night after the Celtics beat his Suns 113-84. "The Celtics are playing basketball the way it should be played."

Six Celtics hit double figures as they recorded their 14th triumph in 15 games with a fast-break offense and stiff defense that protected their lead throughout the contest.

"They simply played super defense in the first half," said Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn. "You've got to keep pressure on them. Everybody made a contribution tonight."

In other NBA games Wednesday night, Kansas City-Omaha defeated Seattle 106-97 and Los Angeles downed Detroit 110-99. In the American Basketball Association, Memphis whipped San Diego 128-101, New York upended Carolina 112-107 and Dallas outlasted Kentucky 104-99.

Dave Cowens paced the Celtics with 25 points and 19 rebounds while Charlie Scott led all scorers with 33 points for Phoenix. The Suns made a minor threat with a nine-point outburst in the fourth quarter that trimmed the Celtics' lead to 89-79. But Boston surged back with 13 straight points to put it out of reach.

Nate Archibald poured in 47 points as the Kings' triumph marked the first time an NBA club coached by Bob Cousy has been over the .500 mark.

"It's nice to be over .500," said Cousy. "But I'll be happier when we make the playoffs."

Flashy rookie leads team to victory

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Vickers doesn't come from Missouri, but he's sceptical anyway.

The flashy New York Ranger rookie scored three goals Wednesday night in a 7-3 National Hockey League victory over Philadelphia. That's good. It was his second straight three-goal game. That's very good. In fact, it's better than any NHL rookie has ever done before.

Cause to celebrate? Not for Vickers.

"I still have to prove to myself that I can play well consistently," the young left wing said. "I just hope I'm not a flash in the pan."

Alabama accepts bowl bid

MIAMI (AP) — Second-ranked Alabama has decided to accept an invitation to meet Texas in the Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl in Dallas, the Miami Herald reported today.

In an article by sports columnist Bob Elliott, the Herald said the Crimson had passed up bids to the Orange and Sugar bowls to play the Longhorns.

Bowl invitations cannot be officially extended until Saturday at 6 p.m.

Jim Irwin:

Last home game

By RIC COOPER

For Jim Irwin, this year's homecoming is extra special. Irwin, senior right cornerback for the Hogs, is from Springdale.

Springdale's city limits border with the outskirts of Fayetteville, so any game at the University allows Jim's hometown friends an opportunity to see him play.

But this Saturday's game with SMU will close out his career in Fayetteville, the Razorbacks travel to Lubbock, Tex. for their finale next week.

"I know a lot of my hometown friends will be at the game Saturday," Irwin said. "Some of them have followed my playing in junior high, senior high, and all through college. It'll be the last time I'll ever get to play before them."

Jim has given the people of Springdale plenty of excitement in his sporting career. He was a three-sport letterman in football, basketball, and track. His senior year he quarterbacked his team to a state championship, and was named the most valuable back in the 1969 Arkansas All-Star game.

His leadership traits have always been dominant. He was captain of his high school team and he is a house officer in the athletic dorm, Wilson Sharp House.

Last week against Rice, Jim intercepted one Owl aerial and saved Razorback defensive efforts by batting away several probable completions at the last moment.

But for Irwin, who plans to go into private business after graduation, this will be his last game on the University of Arkansas campus and he can't help but get nostalgic about it.

"We're really looking forward to playing this game," Irwin said. "All the seniors have a special feeling about it, this will be our last one on campus. Homecoming makes it just that much more special. I've enjoyed my years here, I'll really hate to see it end."

Irwin has one more goal he wants to accomplish in his final two games. He wants to leave this year feeling he has helped show the younger players what it will take to win next year.

"These last two games are important to the team," Jim said. "Starting Saturday, we've got to win so the younger players can know what it takes to win, and how to win. It's the seniors' obligation to pass it down so it can be carried over to next season."

For Jim Irwin Saturday has a lot of meaning.

Kickoff is 1:00 p.m. in Fayetteville.

Cool Amarillo Slim:

Another challenge

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Cool Amarillo Slim, acknowledged world's champion poker player in most places, has accepted another challenge — shooting the rapids of the River of No Return.

The big wintertime challenge of the rapids comes Friday just outside Boise, Idaho, on a bet of $31,000.

Calm, cool Slim admits that's a lot of cold cash.

Slim, who is in private life just plain T. A. Preston of Amarillo, was offered the challenge by a group of fellow gamblers "who got together and raised the money and bet me that I couldn't go down the rapids in wintertime."

With hundreds of poker pots totaling in the thousands of dollars already behind him, Slim took the bet and began preparations that Friday, weather permitting, will launch him on the 65-mile plunge down the watery, officially known as the Salmon River, about 150 miles from Boise.

It's a death-defying stunt. Preston knows it, and his family knows it. But it was his gambling instinct that made him world champion at cards, and it was that same instinct that made him want to try the river.

Among his preparations was his purchase of a Jacques Costeau wet suit and a "sizable life insurance policy at a sizable premium."

"But I'll never collect," Preston says.

Preston tested his wet suit in his swimming pool this week when the temperature was 24 degrees.

"It kept me warm as toast," he said. "And dry."

He explained that he had to punch a tiny hole in each foot of the suit to let in enough air so that he could get it on. After he dons the rubber attire, he patches up the hole to keep water out.

Preston will make the trip in a rubber raft that is reinforced on both bow and bottom as a precaution against ice and swift water.

Riverman Jerry Chapman of Boise will ride a raft with Preston, and another raft, designed to inflate in seconds, will be in reach of both men.

Behind them in another raft will be an Amarillo camera crew filming the trip.

"I flew in a photographer from Sweden to film the trip," said Preston, "but he took one look at that river and backed out." Preston estimated the trip would take five days, weather permitting. "Comes a blinding snowstorm along the way and we'll stay on the bank," he said.

Five hungry children, kin to dead boy, taken away from parents

MIAMI (AP) — Five hungry brothers and sisters of a 3-year-old boy who died of starvation have been taken away from their mother and jailed father and placed in the state's custody.

Juvenile Court Judge Dixie Chastain Wednesday ordered the five kept in protective custody for at least the next 30 days after hearing testimony that the children were ill-fed and ill-cared for in a home too filthy for human occupancy.

"I love my children, I want them back," wept Lois Nozza, who was present during the custody hearing involving her children: Tara, 1, Nicholas, 8, twins Michael and Peter, 6, and Lisa, 7.

She testified that her husband, Michael Nozza, 41, was brutal and refused to give her money for food.

Nozza, a sandblaster who police say earned $12,000 a year, is charged with manslaughter in the malnutrition death of his son Dean. He was arrested after he brought his son's limp body to Variety Children's Hospital Monday night.

Doctors there said tests indicated the little boy starved to death. Mrs. Nozza told police her dead son had lived only on chocolate milk for the past three months. She said her husband had ordered her not to feed the child.

He "looked like one of the victims of Hitler's concentration camps," said Dade County Homicide Detective Julio Ojeda, who viewed the boy's remains at the hospital.

"His body was completely encrusted with dirt. Dirt was packed under his finger and toe nails. His body smelled like urine," Ojeda said.

Ojeda said doctors told him at least one of the other children was suffering from malnutrition.

Wednesday Nozza insisted he gave his wife money, saying "I brought home everything I could make. I don't gamble, I don't drink, I don't play around.

However, he said he couldn't afford an attorney.

"I don't love him any more, I want a divorce," Mrs. Nozza said. "It's his fault my son is dead. He beat me. He beat the children. I tried to leave him once and he nearly killed me."

Although the family lived only seven blocks from the hospital, Mrs. Nozza said she never sought medical treatment for herself or the children after the alleged beatings because she didn't have a car or telephone.

"We had no phone and had to go without electricity because he wouldn't pay the bills," she said. "Where do you go for help with six little children?"

Ojeda said the family's home was strewn with garbage and dirty clothes. He said mice and roaches skittered through the rooms ahead of him when he visited the house. Dishes were stacked in a broken sink, the refrigerator was encrusted with filth, he said, and the house was permeated by the odor of human excrement.

Sheriff's Lt. John Esty said Dean slept on a piece of cardboard and had only a black raincoat for a cover. He said the only thing in the refrigerator was a package of hot dogs and a carton of chocolate milk.

Heath in Ireland to promote peace talks

By FRED COLEMAN
Associated Press Writer
BELFAST (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath flew to Northern Ireland today to try to promote a new round of peace talks.

Heath's two days of meetings with politicians, churchmen, labor and business leaders open the final phase of preparations for a new government structure for the province to replace direct rule from London.

Details of Heath's exact movements were kept secret as a security precaution. Stormont Castle, the site for most of his talks, was sealed off by security forces.

Soldiers with rifles at the ready patrolled the city in jeeps and on foot. They manned barricades at dozens of downtown checkpoints, routinely tripping pedestrians.

Heath was meeting today with labor, industrial and religious leaders, including William Cardinal Conway, the Roman Catholic archbishop of all Ireland. On Friday, he consults with delegations from the province's political parties.

However, the Prime Minister was not expected to meet with guerrilla leaders of the Catholic Irish Republican Army or with William Craig, the Protestant leader who threatens armed action against any secession to the Catholic minority.

The consultations Heath begins are to be continued by William Whitelaw, Britain's chief administrator of Northern Ireland.

Government sources said a major purpose of Heath's trip is to try to shift the momentum from the violence in the streets toward a political settlement.

The British government issued a Green Paper three weeks ago as a basis for discussions on the province's political future. All parties have now studied it fully.

Four U.S. soldiers die in action in Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Four Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, one died of nonhostile causes, four were wounded and four were missing, the U.S. Command reported today.

Another five American dead and 22 injured were added to the combat casualty rolls after being classified for two weeks as casualties due to nonhostile action. They were killed or injured on Oct. 34 when a plane crashed as it was landing on the carrier Midway, and the wreckage changed them to combat casualties because the plane was returning from a mission over North Vietnam.

The South Vietnamese command reported the lowest weekly government casualties in five weeks and the smallest claim of enemy killed since before the start of the North Vietnamese offensive March 30.

The Vietnamese command said 481 of its troops were killed, 1,682 were wounded and 50 were missing. It claimed 1,544 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed.

The allied commands now have reported these total casualties for the war:

American—45,913 killed in action, 363,323 wounded in action, 10,285 dead from nonhostile causes, 1,763 missing or captured.

South Vietnamese—150,500 killed in action, 423,382 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—987,983 killed.

'Pint-sized' Nina is 'falling' into Army

By JOHN LUMPKIN
Associated Press Writer
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The weather and a parachute named "Captain America" will help pint-sized Nina Garcia hopes to "reup" today for four more years in the Army.

"He's been good to me," said Spec. 4 Garcia of her parachute, which she was to wear for her re-enlisting ceremony during a free-fall jump beginning more than two miles above nearby San Marcos. Miss Garcia, 20, of Hollywood, Fla., was to be the first woman to re-enlist in such a manner, according to the Army, but she says, "I don't believe that much in women's lib."

"I don't really believe I'm a woman. I'm just a girl," she said. She's 4-foot-10 and weighs 85 pounds.

A ceremony such as hers can only last about a minute, since the participants are falling like rocks until their chutes are pulled and they drift apart. The Army planned to have an abbreviated oath administered by Air Force Capt. Ronald Diggs, who will make the jump with her. Diggs is a member of the same jumping club as Nina.

Why another four-year hitch?

"Ever since I started in skydiving, I wanted to be the best," she said, explaining that she hopes to be a member of the Army's crack skydiving team, the "Golden Knights" at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

According to Nina, "Golden Knights" whom she has met want a member of the Women's Army Corps in their outfit, but WAC brass is against it. "I'm going to be one," she says.

Her re-enlistment brings with it a $4,000 cash bonus and a choice of one year's assignment, which she said will be Ft. Bragg.

Of her free-fall, she said, "I hope the 'Golden Knights' will latch on to this so they will take a look at me."

After the excitement, she returns to a desk job at Ft. Sam Houston's 5th Army Headquarters here as an intelligence analyst.

"It's terrible. There's not really that much intelligence to analyze," Nina said.

Free-falling, that's different. "I really think everyone should do it just once. It's just like nothing else," praised the girl who tried scuba diving and motorcycling first.

And her mother, how does she feel about skydiving?

"She wants me to do whatever I want to," said Nina, "but she tells me she's getting gray hairs."

"She's pretty interesting, though. She has a belt in karate."

ORIGINAL CHARTER FOR HOPE BOY SCOUTS

Beginning of Boy Scouts in Hope

In 1911, when the Boy Scouts of America was a young organization, a young man in Hope, F.R. Ethridge, organized the first Scout Troop here and was commissioned as its first Scoutmaster.

Ethridge was working for the Carl Baer-Bill Bethea Lumber Co. and through them managed to get some cull lumber and told a group of boys they could have a troop and their own meeting place if they would build a hut. So the boys hauled the lumber themselves to a location on Louisiana St. behind the old Tom Boyett home by the Frisco Railroad. The property belonged to the city.

Ethridge worked long hours at his job, so the boys borrowed tools from Bryant, who was a carpenter and father of one of the boys, and did most of the work themselves. The hut was built with a dirt floor except at one end where there was a platform or stage. They also built benches for seats.

There were about 30 boys and they organized into patrols. Each patrol was supposed to have eight boys, one of whom was patrol leader. They started with five patrols and later filled all but one patrol. All the boys had uniforms which each boy bought himself and a handbook, one of the first printed, which sold for 50c each. At that time there were only three ranks a Scout could attain: tenderfoot, 2nd class, and 1st class.

Ethridge had no literature other than the handbooks but recalls that there was much fun and adventure. The boys furnished everything themselves, with no sponsors or outside help. They would hire wagons to take them to Red Bluff on Little River or Red Lake or hike to Dyke Springs for camp-outs. Assisting Ethridge on these hikes and camp-outs was N.T. Jewel.

Recently, Ethridge, who still lives in Hope, brought his original commission as Scoutmaster to Olen Overturf, Scoutmaster of Troop 91, and stated that he wanted to have it preserved for future Scouts in Hope. The commission, dated July 25, 1911, has listed as honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America, William H. Taft, and Theodore Roosevelt was honorary vice president.

The commission will be framed and hung in the Lion's Club Scout Hut in the Fair Park.

People in the News

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Pat Nixon says the hydrofoil boat that was a gift to the President from Soviet party chief Leonid Brezhnev is exciting and "great fun."

Mrs. Nixon disclosed Wednesday that the family made a secret trip last weekend in Florida's Biscayne Bay to try out the 28-foot boat that skims over the water at a speed of about 30 knots, or 34 miles per hour.

President Nixon, their daughters, Julie and Tricia, son-in-law Edward Cox and family friend C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo were aboard.

OTTAWA (AP) — Margaret Trudeau, wife of Canada's prime minister, was crushed in a throng of school children and nearly knocked down the steps of the Parliament Hill walkway when she took part in a ceremony opening Canada's "Book Week."

The incident occurred Wednesday when Mrs. Trudeau released about 1,000 balloons from under a plastic tarpaulin. Each balloon carried a sticker entitling children under 10 to a free book from the publishing firm which organized the event.

As Mrs. Trudeau released the balloons, the children raced to grab them before they floated out of reach. In the crush, she was nearly pushed backward down a flight of steps. Police rushed through the mob to her rescue.

LONDON (AP) — Princess

Anne, the 22-year-old daughter of Queen Elizabeth II, has been ticketed twice this month for speeding in her 125-mile-per-hour sports car.

A police spokesman said Wednesday that Anne first broke Britain's 70 m.p.h. speed limit on a superhighway from London that passes near the royal family's Berkshire Castle, then again on another highway to the north.

Police said both violations had been booked and authorities will decide in about six weeks whether to prosecute.

Buckingham Palace confirmed that Anne had been stopped but a spokesman said, "We know nothing about any prosecution."

Employees receive turkeys

According to Harry Cagle, manager of the local West's Department Store, here in Hope, all of West's regular employees were given a turkey for their Thanksgiving Day dinner.

Cagle said it has been a tradition for many years for West's to give turkeys to their employees at Thanksgiving and that they were thankful conditions were such and thankful that their customers have made it possible for them to continue this tradition again this year.

NATO invites Soviets to 'reduction' talks

BRUSSELS (AP) — The North Atlantic allies are inviting the Russians to begin their talks on mutual reduction of forces in Europe on Jan. 31. Foreign Minister Walter Scheel of West Germany announced in Bonn that the United States and other members of the Western alliance have sent invitations for the talks to the Soviet Union and some of its Warsaw Pact allies.

He said the conference was proposed for Switzerland but did not specify what city. Lausanne, Bern and Geneva have been mentioned.

The Russians had proposed discussion of both reduction of armies at home and of military forces on foreign soil. But the crux of the negotiations will be the extent of the pullback of Soviet and American troops.

The Soviet Union has about 310,000 men in East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary, according to authoritative Western sources.

The United States has about 300,000 troops in Western Europe.

One of the problems repeatedly stressed by leaders of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is that Soviet troops would withdraw to nearby Russia, while American troops would be pulled back 3,000 miles.

The Western allies made their first offer to discuss a mutual reduction of forces four years ago as a counter to a Soviet call for a European security conference. The Soviet proposal was seen as a maneuver to get American forces out of Europe.

Last spring, in the aftermath of President Nixon's trip to Moscow, the NATO allies agreed to go ahead with both the European security conference and the negotiations for reduction in forces. They called for separate, parallel talks.

Talks to prepare for the security conference are to open Nov. 22 in Helsinki. Thirty-two nations, including the United States and Canada, will take part.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Substernal thyroid not usually cancer

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Would you explain a radio thyroid isotope scan study? Is a substernal thyroid cancerous? What would cause a substernal thyroid? If it is not creating any symptoms wouldn't it be better to leave well enough alone?

Dear Reader — The thyroid scan uses radioactive iodine and takes advantage of the thyroid gland's function in using iodine. The radioactive iodine will be concentrated in the thyroid gland area and by using a counter technique, which identifies where the radioactive iodine is, a map of the size of the thyroid gland can be made. It is a miniaturized version of using a counter to find a uranium mine. If a portion of the thyroid gland is trapped under the sternum (breast bone) its location there can be identified.

If there are nodules of active tissue in the thyroid gland which may be cancerous, these will pick up additional amounts of the radioactive materials and represent hot spots or high density areas on the thyroid scan.

A substernal thyroid is merely one which is enlarged and a portion of it is trapped underneath the sternum. In other cases of thyroid enlargement all of the thyroid gland is in the neck, none of it is under the sternum, and its size can all be determined by physical examination usually without the necessity of using a thyroid scan. A substernal thyroid is not necessarily cancerous. In fact, it usually is not. It just defines where the enlargement of the thyroid gland is located.

Sometimes substernal thyroid glands, if they are large enough, will cause pressure against adjacent structures and will therefore need to be removed. Otherwise, ordinary enlargement of the thyroid gland in the neck region merely increases the size of the neck without creating pressure on underlying structures.

Dear Dr. Lamb — The doctor says I have spasms of the stomach but he doesn't know what causes it. I have great pains in my stomach like cramps. I also have a bad heart. I have a pacemaker — this year makes my fourth year with it. It was exchanged in February of this year. It is doing okay but my stomach is not. I am 76. I would like you to give me some advice if you can.

Dear Reader — To have some idea of what is causing your problem, one would need to have X rays of your stomach and possibly even your gallbladder and lower digestive tract. If these are all normal there is a possibility that the pains you are experiencing in the area of your stomach are from your heart.

Some people have heart pain referred to the upper abdomen. If this should be the case your doctor could try nitroglycerine tablets under the tongue and see if it relieves your abdominal pain.

The body plays strange tricks on us. The pain is not always where the difficulty is. That is why a person with gallbladder difficulty will sometimes have referred pain to the shoulder and a person with a heart attack may have pain in the arm instead of the chest. So, you can have trouble with the blood supply to your heart muscle and it may cause pain in the abdomen instead of the chest.

Holiday favorites at discount prices!

If the Pilgrim Fathers were to see the plump, juicy turkeys we enjoy on Thanksgiving, they could scarcely be expected to recognize them as descendants of the lean, lanky birds they carved and shared with their Indian neighbors. And the Pilgrim Mothers would be amazed by the wide assortment of foods which we put on our Thanksgiving table without need or long days of preparation for the feast. Even you might be surprised to see the big choice of fine foods we have assembled for your selection.
